At last he decided to take lessons, and managed to pass his driving test on the second attempt but he still wasn't very good at parking. A week later he drove into the town by himself, when he was trying to park between two other cars, he damaged one of them slightly. So he wrote to the insurance company about the accident and they sent him a form to fill in describing the case. One of the questions on the form was, "how could the driver of the other car have prevented the accident from happening?".
